Being a self-made women entrepreneur, patience and perseverance have been the two tough qualities to maintain. It has been 7 years now since I started my own practice and each passing year has brought new challenges for me. I have to strive constantly to break these barriers and achieve my dream of being the best in my league! It has not been an easy journey, especially when you have to start from scratch in a male driven industry, get recognised for your uniqueness that sets you apart from the rest and build a strong team for yourself
